“Every great adventure begins with the magical chair in the garage!”
And today, it's taking Lili and Leo somewhere wonderful!
Leelee and the Magical Chair.

A Trip to Spain

Lili and Leo were still in the garage.
They were sitting in front of the magical chair.
The glowing map had just asked:

“Where do you want to go in the world?”

Lili looked at Leo with big eyes.
“Let’s go to Spain!” she said.
“I want to see where you were born!”
Leo smiled widely.
“Yes! Let’s do it!”
The chair spoke again.
“To travel, you must follow the rule:
Sit down, close your eyes,
And say the name of the country
together.”
Lili and Leo nodded.

They sat down.
They held hands.
They closed their eyes.
And together, they said:
“Spain!”

Suddenly, the air around them shimmered...

Zooooom!

When they opened their eyes...

They were standing in the middle of a Beautiful street!

It was sunny and warm.

Colorful buildings stood tall around them.

Music filled the air!

A woman was dancing in her red dress, swirling. Flamenco!

Men nearby were playing Spanish guitars.

Clap clap! People around were smiling and watching.

Lili and Leo couldn't stop staring.

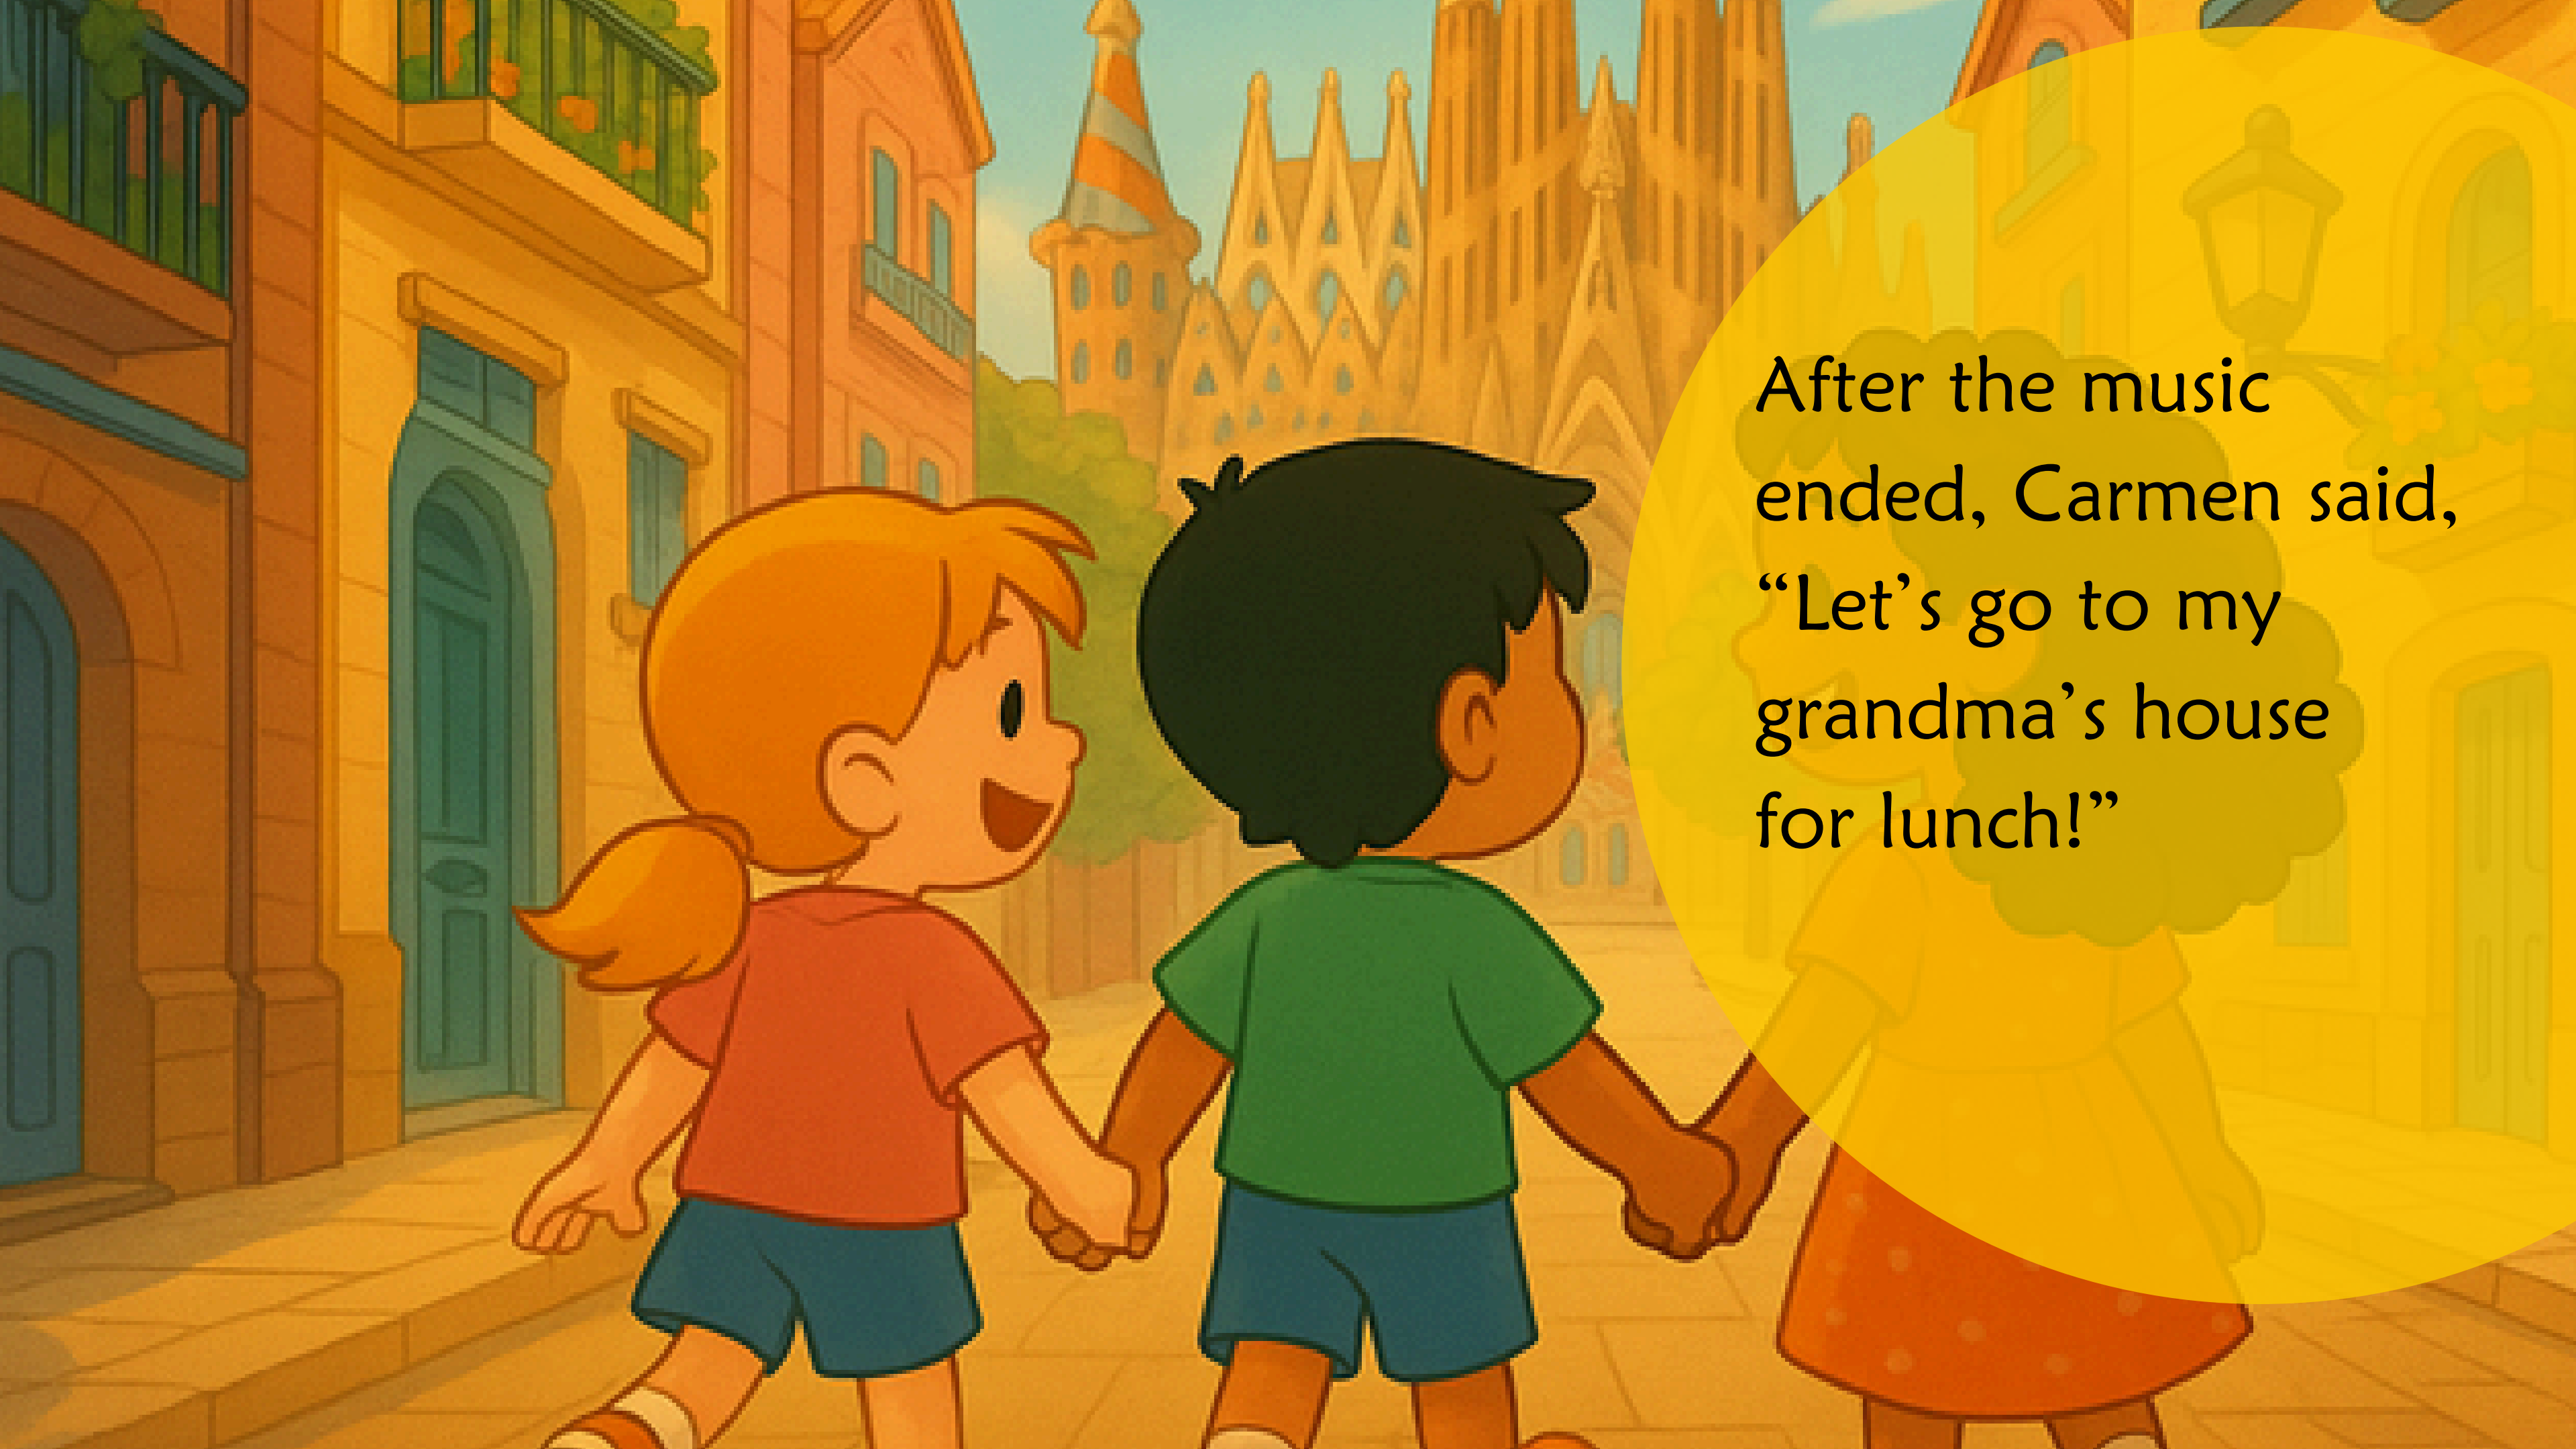

Just then, a girl came skipping toward them. She had curly dark hair and a big, bright smile. “¡Hola! I’m Carmen,” she said. “I’ll be your guide in Barcelona!” Lili and Leo grinned.

Carmen clapped her hands.
“Let’s start by learning how to clap to the rhythm!”
Clap... clap clap!
Clap... clap clap!
Leo tried it first.
Then Lili joined.
Soon, they were clapping
along with the music!
More people gathered around.
They all clapped and cheered.
“¡Olé!” they shouted.
Lili and Leo shouted it too.
“¡Olé!”

They laughed and laughed.
Lili tried to dance like the woman.
But she tripped and spun in a funny way.
Everyone giggled!

An illustration of two children, a girl with blonde hair in a ponytail and a boy with dark hair, walking hand-in-hand down a city street. They are wearing red and green shirts and blue shorts. In the background, there are tall, ornate buildings, including a large cathedral with many spires. A yellow speech bubble is on the right side of the image.

After the music ended, Carmen said, “Let’s go to my grandma’s house for lunch!”

They walked through narrow streets
And stopped at a brick building with a tiny balcony.
Colorful flowers spilled over the railing.

Inside, the apartment was small and cozy.

There was a round table with a white lace cloth.

On the table, there was one dish:

Pan con tomate!

Bread with tomato!

Leo's eyes lit up.
"My favorite!"
Lili looked confused.
"It's just bread and tomato... Why are you so excited?"

Leo laughed.
"Just wait!"

Carmen brought garlic,
olive oil, and salt.
She showed Lili how to rub
garlic on the bread,
Squish the tomato on top,
Drizzle oil, and sprinkle a little salt.

Lili tried it.
“Mmm! This is amazing!”
They all laughed and ate together.

After lunch, Carmen said,
“Let’s visit Park Güell!”

At the park, Lili and Leo saw colorful mosaics,
Wavy walls and the big stone dragon!

“Wow!” said Lili.
“It’s like a fairy tale!”

They ran up the stairs,
Took silly pictures,
And even met a street photographer.
He took a photo of the three friends,
And gave the picture to Lili.
They played until the sun began to set.

“Time to go home,” said Leo.
Carmen walked them back to the street
Where they had arrived.

“I hope you come back soon!” she said.

Lili gave her a hug.
“Thank you, Carmen!”
“¡Gracias!” they all said in Spanish.

Lili and Leo sat on the magical chair again.
They closed their eyes,
And whispered:

“Home.”

Back in the garage,
Lili smiled.

“Let’s keep the chair a secret,” she said.

Leo nodded.

“But we can teach our friends how to clap like Flamenco!”

Clap... clap clap!

“¡Olé!”

They both laughed,
Already dreaming of their next adventure.
